Bolivar / Jane Long Historical Project Pavers

www.janelongfestival.org

At the new Bolivar Peninsula/Jane Long Historical Project at the entrance to Fort Travis, engraved pavers will be laid in the pavilion. A special price of $50 per paver is offered for orders received before Oct. 12. The regular (yet-to-be-decided) price will go into effect at the October 13 Jane Long Festival. This fundraiser will benefit the Bolivar Peninsula Cultural Foundation.

The Project will be dedicated at 9 a.m. Oct. 13, prior to the opening of the 2012 Jane Long Festival.

Please note! As soon as orders are received, they will be sent to the engraver.

However, actual placement depends on Galveston County's work schedule. Since we cannot predict this schedule, we cannot guarantee all pavers will be installed by Oct. 13. Pavers that arrive too late for this installation will be installed after the festival. The sooner your order is sent to the engraver, the more likely it will be installed before the dedication. But we can make no promises on this.
